DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 20 Aug. 2002 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
- I. Claims 1-2, drawn to a valve which includes an orifice diameter feature, classified in class 251, subclass 144.
  - II. Claims 3-13, drawn to a ferrule/valve combination which includes the features of an inclined ferrule and a declining valve body passage, classified in class 73, subclass 863.86.
  - III. Claim 14, drawn to a valve with an orifice with the feature that the axis of the orifice is offset relative to the axis of the valve body, classified in class 251, subclass 318.
  - IV. Claims 15-19, drawn to a ferrule/valve combination which includes the feature that the axis of the orifice is offset relative to the axis of the valve body, classified in class 71, subclass 863.86.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Art Unit: 1744

1. Inventions of Group I and either of Groups II or IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because none of the combinations recited in Groups II or IV require a valve with a valve orifice diameter as required of the claims of Group I. The subcombination has separate utility such as being inserted in ferrule which is not inclined and/or being used in the absence of a ferrule.

2. Inventions of Group I and Group III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the orifice offset feature of the claims of Group III is not required by the claims of Group I.

3. Inventions of Group II and ~~IV~~<sup>III</sup> are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the orifice offset feature of the claims of Group IV is not require of the claims of Group II.

4. Inventions of Group II and Group IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the valve of the combination is not required to have an inclined passage as is required of the valve of the subcombination. The subcombination has separate utility such as being using in an inclined ferrule and/or in a device other than a ferrule connected to a conduit or tank.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Groups I or IV is not required for Groups II or III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
